P R E F A C E.

WITHOUT that local knowledge of the inhabitants of a thriving and populous town, which Compilers of former Directories plead as an indispensable reason for attempting, (and which would utterly exclude the experienced Mechanic or intelligent Traveller from offering the fruits of studious application or of ingenious observations, for the general good,) we have ventured a Guide in opposition to such confined accomplishments.

Without waiting upon the principal part of the inhabitants of a town, whose increasing population so loudly calls for an annual Directory, we established the correctness of the present — first, by a due arrangement of trades, masters, &c. and, afterward, by employing an intelligent man to wait on some of those respective trades, — to supply omissions or correct errors; but we will not promise perfection until the next edition. — Our thanks are particularly due to several active Gentlemen, who not only distinguished the respective branches of their business, but personally busied themselves for correctness; and, we flatter ourselves they will find their alterations duly inserted. In some instances information was withheld; but it proceeded either from a false womanly fear or boyish greatness — And we wish such to be informed, that we pity a weakness ness that change of situation and riper years will make them acknowledge, sooner or later.

Without having various modes of arranging proposed to us, we chose not slavishly to follow one, because sanctioned in the metropolis, but consistently to persevere in a new opinion; and we are justified in asserting, that the present publication will be found more useful to distant trading towns, more advantageous to visiting dealers, more entertaining to gentlemen, more beneficial to residents, and more useful to journeymen, than any plan hitherto before accomplished. — It also will sufficiently clear off imputations of plagiarism; for, certainly, no compilers ever more widely differed in opinion and pursuits than the corrector of the last Directory and the author of the present: Which of the two will receive the greatest encouragement Time will shew. — And it remains for us, not only to return thanks for orders already received in Birmingham, but more for the impartial and general commendations bestowed on the plan.

Respecting the few repetitions in the present edition, we presume, that the mention thereof will be a sufficient apology; — for, having followed our own arrangement in the printing, we could no less than pay regard to alterations received afterwards. All which redundancies will, in future, be entirely done away by the introduction of an index: — We had proceeded too far in the present edition to benefit by the ingenious means of references.

We

P R E F A C E.

We respectfully inform the booksellers of London, Sheffield, Manchester, Bristol, Bath, and other considerable trading cities and towns, (whose extensive demands have accomplished the present speedy publication,) and the public in general, that this Directory will be published early in the month of every January hereafter; and do, with confidence assure them, that it shall be brought as near perfection as studious correction and typographical improvement can attain. — We make no doubt, but we should have had an equal animating complimeot to pay to the booksellers of Birmingham, had we been equally assiduous in making the utility of the work conspicuous; but we deemed it more meritorious to leave that encouragement to their conduct, that was unnecessary in us to solicit of their generosity, being on the spot.

— The present work is duly entered in the Hall-book of the company of Stationers, according to the statutes made and provided for securing copy rights; and, should any surreptitious edition be palmed on the Public, to the injury of a work, that has been attended with great labour in the accomplishment, and expence in its execution, they may depend on being fully informed of such imposition in the most particular and public manner.

We remain, as in Candour bound,

The Public's diligent Obeyers,

FAZELEY-STREET,
JULY, 1788.
